Because of the effectiveness of HAART, persons with HIV/AIDS are living longer. Epidemiologists predict that by the year 2015, roughly 50% of HIV-infected individuals may be aged 50 and older. If rates continue to increase as they are, this growing population of “geriatric HIV patients” will need a health system implemented just for them.